Editors’ Acknowledgements

The editors would like to thank the College of Arts and Letters and its Associate Dean, Dr. Deanne Nuwer, for their continued encouragement and support. Many thanks as well go to Jack Covarrubias of the USM GC Learning Commons for his work and expertise in publishing and formatting. In addition, the USM GC Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, the International English Honor Society, and its faculty sponsor, Dr. Damon Franke, have been instrumental in publicizing our call for submissions, and its members have generously shared their own work with us. Many of their efforts grace the following pages, indicative of the literary and intellectual riches to be found on the USM GC Campus and in its wider community of supporters. The editor would also like to thank and congratulate one of our associate editors, Dr. Constance Bailey, on the completion of her doctorate. We’d also like to thank Dr. Phillip Levin and Judy Davies of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Writers’ Association, through whose publicity efforts many of the submissions came to us for the last three years. Our lead essay in this edition comes from Heather Miller, and was recognized in this year’s Eagles Write competition. This is Volume I, #4 of Coastlines, and we hope that the support we have enjoyed from USM and its community will continue over the course of many more numbers and volumes. Southern Miss To The Top!
