In October, Aquila crossed the four-millionth download mark. In just under a decade, content produced or published by Southern Miss faculty, staff, and students has been utilized around the world on four million occasions.

Spotlight On...

Anna Morgan

Evening Circulation Specialist, Cook Library

Favorite part of your job? My favorite part of working nights is being able to help the students who aren't able to come in the library during the day.

What is your proudest accomplishment? My proudest accomplishment is getting the job as the evening circulation specialist. I have wanted to be a librarian for a long time now and knowing that I can work my way up the ladder at USM excites me.

Which talent would you most like to have? I would like to learn American Sign Language.

What is one thing most people don't know about you? I was a high ranking member in my high school's JROTC.

If you could only eat one food for the rest of your life, what would it be? Lemon Pepper Wings

Something you hate but wish you loved? Mac and cheese

Shoutout To...

Hali Black

First Year Experience Librarian

Black received the Past President's Award at the Mississippi Library Association (MLA) Annual Conference held virtually on October 12 - 14. The Past President's Award is given to an outstanding beginning professional librarian who is an active MLA member. Candidates must hold an MLS degree, be employed in Mississippi, and have between two and six years professional experience, two of which must be in Mississippi.

Stuart Edits Book on the Economics Across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Lorraine A. Stuart, associate professor and head of Special Collection in University Libraries, is the primary editor of the upcoming publication, Economic Considerations for Libraries, Archives, and Museums. The book, available on November 12, provides insight into the economics of collaboration across Libraries, Archives, and Museums (LAMs) and cultural heritage funding.

Co-editors are Thomas F.R. Clareson, senior consultant for Digital and Preservation Services at LYRASIS, and Joyce Ray, PhD., senior lecturer and program coordinator of the Digital Curation program at Johns Hopkins University.
