Spotlight—Faculty:

Dr. Sarah Mangrum joined the School of Library and Information Science faculty at The University of Southern Mississippi (USM) as an Assistant Teaching Professor in Fall 2021, after serving as an Adjunct since 2019. She received her Doctor of Education in Higher Education Administration in 2019 and Master of Library and Information Science in 2011 from Southern Miss. Prior to that, she earned a Bachelor's in Communications from Southeastern Louisiana University in 2005. Dr. Mangrum teaches two literature courses, the research course, the academic libraries course, and more.

Dr. Mangrum began working for University Libraries at Southern Miss in the fall of 2008. During her tenure at Cook Library she served in various roles in Access Services including Access Services and Assessment Librarian at Cook Library after completing her MLIS. She served as the Vice-President, President, and Immediate Past President of the Mississippi Library Association from 2017-2019. Currently, Dr. Mangrum serves as the Southeastern Library Association Councilor for the Mississippi Library Association and sits on steering committee for the Fay B. Kaigler Children's Book Festival.

Dr. Mangrum's doctoral capstone studied library physical space usage and administrator perceptions of usage in academic libraries and was published in the Journal of Access Services in April 2020. She also has a book chapter in Persistence through Peril: Episodes of College Life and Academic Endurance in the Civil War South that was published by the University Press of Mississippi in September 2021.

Spotlight—Alum:

Carlos B. Crockett, Reference Library at the Terrebonne Parish Main Library in Houma, Louisiana, earned his undergraduate degree from the University of New Orleans and then his Master's in Library and Information Science at The University of Southern Mississippi (2013). While at Southern Miss, he was a recipient of The Warren Tracy Award for Professionalism, Scholarship, and Service. In addition to his outstanding scholastic record, faculty were especially impressed with his drive to reach underserved youth populations in Louisiana and his service as a mentor. After completing his MLIS, he continued his passion for working with youth and published on the topic—"Urban Youth and Public Libraries" was published by Public Libraries Public Libraries, Vol.53 (5) in January, 2015. As a public reference librarian, he is responsible for helping library customers with their information needs and wants, instructing them on reputable reference sources, teaching computer classes and ESL classes, and conducting library programming. He also writes for the library blog on local history and genealogy—for example: <https://mytpl.org/project/a-brief-history-of-steamboats-in-the-south/>.

Carlos Crockett is a member of the Louisiana Library Association and the American Library Association. He is married to Liz Utley Crockett and is the father of Cherish Crockett and Cierra Crockett, all of Houma, Louisiana.
